ONLINE LEARNING PORTAL

IN HIGHLIGHT

- 1 - Online Learning Portal
- 2 - Pilot sessions

Within the project we have been developed an online learning portal as a one-stop-shop providing instant access to the full suite of webquest resources developed.

The E-Learning framework follows a modular structure and allows for the flexibility of combining the available modules as well as the cost-efficient creation of new ones, should the need for a special purpose build extension arise.

For further information and access to this tailored in-service training programme for adult educators via the Game of Phones project, please visit:

PILOT SESSIONS

Target: Adult educators & trainers

All partner countries (Ireland, Portugal, Spain, Cyprus, and Croatia) have hosted the pilot session where the participants were informed about the project purpose and objectives, the usefulness of WebQuests as a learning method, and the compendium of WebQuest resources created by the consortium under the IOI.

Additionally the participants explored the usefulness of the Webquests, test the learning resources and give feedback.

Stephanie Kirwan, from Meath partnership, highlights that "Problem Based Learning is a critical component of education. The participants were excited to explore the resources created further and use them in their practice".

CARDET from CYPRUS completed the pilot workshop recently with adult educators with many positive comments. Take the chance to test the WebQuest resources too for your classes! Adult educator: "The digital platform is very easy, I would definitely recommend it to others"

FONDO FORMACIÓN EUSKADI from SPAIN reports that the participants in the pilot, consider this very attractive methodology for teaching NEETs and a very easy way to motivate them to follow the learning activities and make the learning more challenging through webquests activities.
